SEES HOPE FOR NEW SPIRITUAL UPLIFT IN U. S.

Decrying what he said was "a growing indifference to spiritual values in man's relations to other men in everyday life," the Rev. Victor K. Meredith Jr., pastor of the Methodist Church, in a talk at Tuesday night's dinner meeting of the Exchange Club, declared:

"When a new chief executive of this great nation begins his inaugural address with a prayer, there is a new opportunity for this nation and for all of us for a return to these spiritual values which are an essential part of our existence."

Commenting on President Eisenhower's oft-expressed faith in God, Rev. Meredith said: "Until we in our everyday lives come back to a simple honesty for the welfare of the individual, which is in reality God's law of love, we cannot hope for freedom for ourselves or freedom for the other peoples of the world."

"President Eisenhower's inaugural address showed his feeling of dependence as an individual and as a nation on God, and a conviction that only as we return to the faith of our fathers can we find salvation in our individual lives and a hope for the continued freedom of all the free nations."

Cites Four Reasons
The speaker outlined four points illustrative of the loss, he said, of spiritual values:

"First, a reckless or foolish sense of security which has become too much a part of our everyday lives. We have this false sense of security because we feel that we have always been safe, and that our way of life is best, but this will not keep us from war or disaster."

"Second, I think that the present (Please Turn to Page 2)

Attempt Made To Enter Local Home

State Senator Donald M. McPherson reported to borough police Tuesday night at 10 o'clock that someone had attempted to enter his home on Carlisle St. by prying open a rear window. Police said the attempt had been made apparently by using a tire iron on the window, judging by marks in the sill. The intruders apparently were frightened away before they could open the window.

CITES CHANGES IN BACKGROUND OF FARM FOLK IN THIS COUNTY

Adams County's farm population is changing, County Agent M. T. "Dutch" Hartman declared Monday night at Biglerville.

Speaking at a meeting of leaders of the Adams County Farmers Association, Hartman, after observing that he was in no way connected with the association, but "feel there is a need for some such organization in the county," observed:

"There has been a definite change in our farm population here. You say there has always been a constant change in the farmers, as old ones retired and young ones took over the farms."

"But this is a different thing entirely. It has always been my contention that a person who operates a farm should be one who was born and raised on a farm. For there are things you learn about farming from having been reared on one that you can never get out of books."

Need Specialized Services
"In recent years we have seen a very rapid swing toward purchase of farms by people with no farm background whatsoever. And sometimes they make very excellent farmers."

"I think however I have talked as many out of farming as have become farmers. Because if you do not have the capital to be able to afford the mistakes you are going to make in learning to be a farmer you are in pretty bad shape to begin with."

"This swing to farming by people who begin farming without previous experience has produced a group who have very good ideas on farming but who have greater need for specialized service to help them get started farming. And because there are so many non-farmers becoming farmers I think you are going to find more and more demand for specialized agencies to help the new farmer as the years go on."

"It is a definite change and a trend I believe is continuing, with resultant changes in farming methods and services as you and I know them."

Exchange Student To Be Naturalized

Ernest Schoenfeld, who was a German exchange student here from July, 1950, to July 1951, and who attended Gettysburg High School while here, has realized his fondest dream—he is about to become an American citizen.

The slight, red-headed young German is visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. Barlip, Gettysburg R. 2, while enroute to visit with relatives in Minnesota who agreed to sponsor him on the immigration list.

Schoenfeld came here under the farm youth exchange program originally and declared just before his return to Germany that his every effort would be exerted to get back to the U. S. Upon his completion of his studies in Germany the opportunity came to come back under immigration laws to eventually become a citizen of the U. S. and he took quick advantage of the opportunity.

Monday night he was a guest of the local Rotary Club, before which he had spoken while a student here. He arrived in the U. S. Sunday and later this week plans to travel on to Minnesota. He, as yet, is not sure whether he will settle in the Minnesota area or seek farm employment here.

COUNTY MOTORISTS CHARGED

Five motorists have been charged with traffic violations in informations filed by McSherrystown Chief of Police Manard Messer before Justice of the Peace I. M. Staub, McSherrystown. Allen R. Knipple, Gettysburg R. 3, and Edward L. Meininger, New Oxford R. 2, face reckless driving charges as the result of accidents.

Fred H. Wilhelm, Abbottstown R. 1; William L. Kuglen, Waynesboro, and Louise McDannell, Biglerville R. 1, are charged with driving too fast for conditions.

HITS PARKED CAR

Here And There News Collected At Random

Motorists face two important deadlines which they must meet to assure themselves of the uninterrupted use of their vehicles after January 31, according to a warning issued today by an official of the Gettysburg Motor Club.

"These two deadlines, both of which arrive at midnight, January 31, are the matter of the renewal of operators' licenses and the inspection of motor vehicles in the current semi-annual inspection campaign," he said.

"Failure to meet both, or either, of these deadlines will mean that a driver cannot operate a vehicle or that a car owner cannot drive his car until such time as these requirements are met."

"Since this double-barreled deadline is rapidly approaching, motorists and car owners should avoid any further delay in renewing their operating privileges for another year or in having their cars inspected at an official inspection station or garage."

"With both of these deadlines near at hand any further delay could easily result in the inability of a motorist to legally operate his vehicle after January 31, and until such time as he could meet both requirements."

"Both the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, which issues operators' licenses, and official inspection stations and garages will be faced with the inevitable last-minute rush," he concluded. "Play it safe by obtaining the new operator's license and having your car inspected immediately."

Philadelphia To Address Bankers

A talk on automobile and agriculture consumer financing by Alexander Gunther, vice president in charge of the consumer credit department of the First National Bank of Philadelphia, will feature the regular meeting of the Adams County Bankers Association tonight. The meeting will be held following a 6:30 p.m. dinner at the Adams House. Mr. Gunther, in addition to his duties at the Philadelphia bank, is also a member of the staff of the University of Pennsylvania.

Letter to the Editor

Hampton, Pa.
Jan. 19, 1953

Dear Sir:
Spring must be here. This afternoon a cat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Russel Kindt brought an 18-inch garter snake into the yard and played with it until Mr. Kindt's mother killed it. Very unusual for this time of the year.

75TH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. William C. Little, 144 W. Middle St., is observing her 75th birthday anniversary today.

Inaugural Was Extravaganza, Prayer, Mardi Gras And More

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a symbol and a clashing of cymbals. It was an extravaganza and a prayer.

It was part Mardi Gras, part Saturday night at the country club, part old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration, part a simple appeal for divine blessing.

It was a little bit of everything that's America—a husbandly peck on the cheek for Mamie Eisenhower, a cowboy's lasso flipped around her soldier-President, a sassy display of bare-limbed high school cuties, a doleful chorus of "Auld Lang Syne" for a man going home to Missouri.

"I-Day" In D. C.

All this and much more—that was Washington on "I-Day."

The "I" stands for both "inauguration" and for "Ike."

It had its solemn moments. Dwight Eisenhower saw to that. He broke precedent by opening his inaugural address with a prayer, one he'd composed himself in the

Shouting Defiance, Rockview Convicts Spurn Surrender Offer

BELLEFONTE, Pa. (AP)—Shouting defiance, some 325 rebellious convicts again spurned surrender ultimatums today in their barricaded cellblocks at the Rockview State Penitentiary and refused to release six guards held as hostages until their "gripes" are honored.

It was the third day of their surprise insurrection. Last night 400 of Rockview's prisoners capitulated to a demand by Gov. John S. Pine who warned that additional jail sentences would be given to every man who continues to defy authority.

Must Free Hostages
The newest rejection of the state's efforts to bring peace to the prison came in a yelling exchange between Deputy Atty. Gen. Edward Friedman, standing on the ground outside Cellblock A and the convict leader who peered out through barred windows 30 feet above.

Friedman sought to negotiate a surrender of the convict rebels who launched the rioting Monday night. During the course of the rioting hundreds of mattresses have been burned, and plumbing and other fixtures have been ripped off walls and thrown out cell windows.

Friedman said he couldn't go into that now.

"If you have no authority to answer questions, you have no authority to make a settlement," one of the convicts replied.

13 COMMUNIST LEADERS GUILTY

NEW YORK (AP)—A Federal Court jury today found all 13 Communist leaders guilty of conspiracy.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Federal Court jury reached a verdict today in the conspiracy trial of 13 Communist leaders.

Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock received a note to this effect from the jury shortly before noon.

Announcement of the verdict was delayed pending the arrival of the eldest defendant, Jacob Mindel, 71, who was taken ill with a heart ailment last week. His counsel waived his presence in court.

The jurors received the case last Thursday and deliberated a total of 48 hours.

Private Duty Nurses Hold Regular Meeting

The private duty nurses held their first meeting of the year Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Tawney, E. Middle St., with 15 members present. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Ada Tuckey, Mrs. Lois Dengler, Mrs. Caroline Bigham and Mrs. Agnes Price.

Doris Oylar, president, opened the meeting by introducing two new members, Mrs. Beulah Shack and Miss Alma Weikert, and re-instating Mrs. Rosanna Meinhardt.

Due to the resignation of Mrs. Bigham, Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes was elected secretary. Following appointments of new committees, the meeting adjourned. Cards were played and refreshments served.

The next meeting will be held in March at the home of Doris Oylar.

Riding Club Plans Spring Horse Show

A committee to arrange for a Spring Horse Show here was appointed at a meeting of the Gettysburg Riding Club Tuesday evening by President LeRoy H. Winebrenner. The meeting was held in the office of Attorney Richard A. Brown with 25 members present.

The committee which will report February 17 to the club on the date and place for the show and will announce the show sponsor then will include Dr. Bruce N. Wolff, Carl Oylar, L. S. Long and Ed Straub. The committee will meet this evening.

Dr. J. Walter Coleman, Gettysburg National Park superintendent, was the speaker for Tuesday's meeting. He talked about battle-field bridge paths.

BOYS COMPETE FOR CHERRY PIE BAKING QUEEN

Boys as well as girls will take part in this year's cherry pie baking contest sponsored by the Pennsylvania Cherry Growers Association, Ryland Garretson, Bendersville, president, announced today.

The association, made up mostly of fruit growers in the upper end of Adams County, has sponsored a state-wide cherry pie baking contest to name a Pennsylvania Queen for the past several years.

This year, Garretson said, not only has a ninth county been added, but the association has decided to let the high school boys, many of whom attend home economics classes, try their luck at cherry pie baking as well.

Asked what would happen if the contest resulted in a "cherry pie king" instead of a "cherry pie queen" for Pennsylvania, Garretson said, "We'll take him out to Chicago and enter him in the national contest just as we have been entering our queens, and we'll see what will happen. After all the greatest and most famous chefs have all been men."

Name Winners This Week

Littlestown and Waynesboro high schools have home economics classes for boys, Garretson pointed out, "and at Waynesboro the past few years they have been having a cherry pie baking contest for the boys as well as the girls. Previously the boys weren't allowed in the state competition."

Schuylkill County has joined the list of counties planning to select county queens (or kings) and enter them in the state contest which will be held February 14 at a school yet to be designated. The other counties participating include: Adams, Erie, Crawford, Perry, Cumberland, York, Dauphin and Franklin Counties.

Two local schools, Gettysburg and East Berlin, are scheduled to name their entrants in the county contest Thursday. Delone High School will name its entrant on Friday.

To Present Ribbons

President Garretson will present the ribbons for the Gettysburg contest and Thomas Oylar and Roy Tate will make similar deliveries to East Berlin and Delone.

On Thursday Garretson will meet with Miss Margaret M. Brant, home economics advisor for Adams and Cumberland Counties, and Dr. A. Pauline Sanders, chief of home economics education for the state Department of Public Instruction, at Harrisburg, to make final arrangements for the state contest.

Cherries for the various contests are provided by the C. H. Musselman Co., Biglerville, and the Knouse Foods cooperative of Peach Glen.

Besides providing an opportunity for high school students to compete for various awards, the contest also is designed to help promote interest in the making and eating of cherry pies — which the cherry growers call "America's best dessert."

Thomas Oylar, Gettysburg R. 3, past president of the state organization, said the contest has attracted much attention, and has resulted in the sale of "a lot of cherries." One direct result of an increased interest on the part of the public in cherry pies has been the planting of many acres of young cherry trees in upper Adams County.

The winner of the state contest will be entered in the national contest to be held at Chicago under the auspices of the National Cherry Council February 20.

TWO DANGEROUS INTERSECTIONS BEING STUDIED

The district engineer's office of the State Highway department is preparing recommendations for an improved warning system at the hazardous Cross Keys intersection on the Lincoln Highway west, scene of three traffic fatalities in recent months, it was learned Tuesday.

District engineer A. J. Bedard reported his office has completed a study of the cross-road and would shortly submit his recommendations for alleviating the hazard to the department's chief engineer, C. H. Buckius.

Bedard declined to reveal what the recommendations were to be, but he indicated that they would be limited to more emphatic warning to motorists approaching the intersection.

Reconstruction Awaits Funds

Bedard pointed out that in the case of Cross Keys, which is the Lincoln Highway's junction with the Hanover - Carlisle Rd., and another dangerous crossing, the York Springs intersection, only reconstructing the intersections would assure effective reduction of the hazard. But he added that this kind of costly cure had to await scheduling of limited department funds.

Bedard said his office planned a study of the York Springs intersection where a true driver was killed in November but that this would "come later."

A newly-wed couple was killed at the Cross Keys junction last October and a 37-year-old man died Jan. 8 as a result of injuries sustained in a Christmas morning accident there.

Seek Charter For Church Organization

Papers for the incorporation of the Southern Methodist Church Association of Littlestown have been filed with the Adams County prothonotary.

The application for incorporation as a non-profit organization lists the incorporators as Eston D. Franks, Littlestown R. 1; Clingan K. Hill, Gettysburg R. 2; C. C. Childs, Littlestown R. 1; Ralph R. Kunkel, Littlestown R. 1, and Eileen M. Hill, Gettysburg R. 2. The first four are also listed as directors. Real property of the organization is reported as amounting to $6,000 and personal property at $200. It lists the church as belonging to the Southern Methodist Church Association.

Hold Early Leads In Kiddie Contest

Leaders in the Kiddie Contest sponsored by the Exchange Club in connection with its show, "Shooting Stars," to be given in the high school auditorium January 29 and 30, maintained their top positions in the second day's balloting.

Leading the race for "king" is Bobby Decker, and Lenora Henry is still in the lead for "queen." The king and queen and members of the "Royal Family" will be crowned on the first night of the show by Judge W. C. Sheely.

The five leaders in the contest today are: Boys, Bobby Decker, first; Robert Myers, second; Roger Smith, third; Stevie Smith, fourth, and Barry Snyder, fifth; girls, Lenora Henry, first; Linda Sease, second; Barbara Hockin-Smith, third; Charlene Woodward, fourth and Peggy Bolen, fifth.

New entrants in the contest are: Boys, Jeffrey Roth, Dan William Greenawald, Sammy Swope, Douglas Weikert, Thomas Callahan, Steven Fidler, Frank Weishaar, Chuck Shanebrook, Tommy Ruffy; girls, Donna Kay Greenawald, Elaine Riffle and Trudy Timmins. There are now 84 children entered in the contest.

WRECKED TRAIN HAD BAD BRAKES SAYS OFFICIALS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Pennsylvania Railroad official testified at a Senate inquiry today that the runaway train that hurtled into Union Station here last Thursday had developed trouble with its brakes en route at Kingston, R. I.

Adelbert Schroeder, assistant general counsel of the railroad, said that during a stop at Kingston, the engineer got out and fixed the brake by hand.

Sen. Tobey (R-N. H.) remarked that "someone must have tampered with the air brakes" before the train, the Federal Express, left Boston. He asked Schroeder if that were not correct.

"It seems very plausible," Schroeder replied.

Tobey is chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee, which opened public hearings today in an effort to determine the cause of the accident.

50 Were Injured

More than 50 persons were injured in the accident, several of them critically, when the crack passenger train smashed through a stop-block and broke through the floor of the station's concourse.

H. W. Brower of Philadelphia, the engineer of the ill-fated train, was the first witness.

Tobey said he had heard that someone said the train was going 80 miles an hour after it passed the control tower coming into the railroad yard here.

Brower didn't argue with that, but he said the train was going "40 anyway." And he added that, without air to apply his brakes, he felt as though he was going faster all the time.

The train blared a warning that the express was out of control, enabling persons in its path to flee.

IKE STANDS BY WILSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today that President Eisenhower still intends to name Charles E. Wilson to the post of secretary of defense.

But the nomination will not be submitted to the Senate today, James C. Hagerty, Eisenhower's press chief, told a news conference.

Beyond that, however, Hagerty sidestepped reporters' questions about Eisenhower's intentions regarding the controversial Wilson appointment.

Hagerty said he knows of no change in the President's decision to appoint the former General Motors president to the Cabinet.

Wilson's prospective appointment had been challenged by some Republicans and Democrats who quoted laws saying that no federal official on a contract-making level may hold a financial interest in a company which owns defense contracts.

General Motors, from which Wilson resigned as president, is the Nation's biggest defense contractor. Some senators have said Wilson should divest himself of 2½ million dollars worth of G. M. stock before taking any Cabinet post.

WEST EUROPE WELCOMES IKE

LONDON (AP)—Western Europe gave a warm welcome to President Eisenhower today and hailed his inaugural speech as proof of continued American cooperation.

There were signs, too, that Western Europe will pledge its support to Eisenhower's anti-Communist policy just as it cooperated with outgoing President Truman.

Among senders of messages of good will to the new American President were West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, President Marshall Tito of Yugoslavia, and King Baudouin of Belgium. From India, President Rajendra Prasad expressed belief "friendship and co-operation between our two countries will continue to grow."

Western Europe's press took deep satisfaction in noting that Eisenhower apparently will follow the same general foreign policy lines as his predecessor.

Quite a few newspapers waved a friendly farewell to Harry Truman and said he will go down in history as a courageous, far-sighted leader.

State Police Say

At railroad crossings always remember that it is impossible for a train to change its course of travel to avoid an accident. Slow down, with especial alertness to multiple track crossings and do not shift gears during the crossing. Keep uppermost in mind that it is always train time at a railroad crossing.

Phone Gettysburg 1006. 640 or 725 — After 7 P. M., 751-Y

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Eagles will hold its regular meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock at the Eagles Home, Chambersburg St.

T. E. Farrell, Gettysburg R. 4, attended the funeral of his uncle, the late Rev. William C. Farrell, at St. Benedict's Catholic Church, Philadelphia, Tuesday morning, at 10:30 o'clock, during which a requiem high mass was sung. Interment was in the church cemetery. Father Farrell built St. Benedict's Church of which he was rector. The edifice was dedicated last November. The clergyman is survived by a sister, Miss Lillian C. Farrell, West Chester; and a brother, Frank Farrell, Philadelphia. Another brother of the deceased was the late Edward J. Farrell, father of T. E. Farrell and a former resident of Gettysburg.

Plans for a party to be held in the near future will be made at a meeting of the Blue Triangle Club at the YWCA at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

Mrs. Floyd King, Gettysburg, and Mrs. Edward Zinn, New Oxford, were hostesses to the Birthday Club at a sea food dining at White's Restaurant, Hanover, Tuesday evening. The guests of honor, Miss Caroline Rupp, Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler and Miss Roberta Bittinger, were presented with corsages of miniature red rosebuds and gifts.

Following the dinner a party was held at the home of Miss Doris Redding, Baltimore St., Hanover. The affair concluded with the playing of a tape recording of the party which Miss Redding had been making during the evening as a surprise to the guests.

Officers were elected at a meeting of the BeeP Club Monday evening at the YWCA. The following were named: President, Mary Clapsaddle; vice president, Doris Hann; recording secretary, Dorothy Fidler; corresponding secretary, Barbara Ketterman; treasurer, Catherine Rohrbach. The officers will be installed Monday evening, February 2.

The following standing committees were appointed: Program, Mrs. Louise Krick, chairman, Mrs. Wanda Miller and Miss Patricia Lightner, co-chairmen; service, Mary Louise Shriver, chairman, Mrs. Joan Kuhn and Dorothy Fidler, co-chairmen; ways and means, Betty Ketterman, chairman, Catherine Rohrbach and Carolyn Fidler, co-chairmen; membership, Doris Hann, chairman, Anna Mae Bigham and Barbara Ketterman, co-chairmen.

Meetings will be held at 7 p.m. in the future instead of 7:30, it was announced. Doris Hann and Catherine Rohrbach will be delegates to the Y conference at Washington, D. C., January 31 and February 1. Five dollars was donated to the March of Dimes Fund Monday evening. A cooking demonstration featuring salads will be presented by Mrs. Mary Jane Mickey, Adams County Home Economics Extension representative, at the meeting Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Y.

A surprise birthday party was held for Mrs. Ruth Johns, Lincoln Square, Tuesday evening at the YWCA by members of the Annie Danner Club. A birthday cake and other refreshments were served. The girls had attended a theater party earlier in the evening. After the party several members watched the Inaugural Ball on television at the home of Miss Verna Kitzmiller, W. Middle St.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Riley and daughter, Connie, N. Stratton and, Martha Jane McDermitt, Hanover St., niece of Dr. and Mrs. Riley, attended the Inauguration ceremonies in Washington, D. C., Tuesday.

Techniques in preparing potatoes, making desserts, lighting candles and mopping and dusting were studied by Brownie Troop 3 at a meeting of the group Monday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the Memorial EUB Church, W. Wedding

Kunkel-Zimmerly

Miss Ruth Arlene Zimmerly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Zimmerly, Reading, became the bride of Elmer Marion Kunkel, a son of Mrs. Marcia Bechtel Kunkel, East Berlin R. 3, and the late John Kunkel, at a very quiet ceremony performed at 11:30 o'clock Saturday morning by the Rev. Alton M. Leister, pastor of the East Berlin Evangelical and Reformed church.

The bride, wearing a street length dress of blue antique satin with blue accessories, and carrying white roses, had as her matron of honor Mrs. Clayton E. Royer, Litzitz, whose street length dress was of American Beauty crepe, and who carried pink roses. The best man was Russell H. A. Fissell, East Berlin.

The bride has been engaged in work at Elizabethtown college campus for some time and the bridegroom, a veteran of extensive foreign service with the navy, pursued his further education there after his discharge, and later studied at Boston University. He will now study at the University of Oklahoma, Tulsa, Okla., for which place the couple left immediately after their wedding to make their home until the bridegroom attains his master's degree in business administration.

TOLL BRIDGES PAY OFF WITH GOOD REVENUE

HARRISBURG (AP)—Revenue from Pennsylvania's 10 state-owned toll bridges has paid off more than two-thirds of their purchase price, a survey showed today.

Financial records of the State Highways Department revealed that the spans took in $944,523 during 1952 to bring the net total to $4,537,416.

The bridges were bought by the Commonwealth a little over three years ago for about seven million dollars. A 1949 law requires the Highways Department to free the spans as soon as the total cost is repaid in tolls.

Some 65,561 vehicles use the bridges each day, paying an average of slightly over $4,000 daily, the records show. At that rate the purchase prices would be fully recovered in 1955.

Overcomes Competition

Chief revenue producer of the 10 spans is the Market St. Bridge in Harrisburg which held on to its top spot despite the construction of a toll-free crossing several hundred yards away. The Market St. Bridge took in $309,473 last year to boost its total collections to $1,634,602.

In contrast, the Walnut St. Bridge—only a block away—look in only $24,096 in 1952 to make its total read $305,710. A board of viewers' report to the courts still has to set a purchase price for the Walnut St. Bridge.

Second top income-producing bridge is the Clarks Ferry span across the Susquehanna River a few miles north of here. It took in $156,278 last year to send its total to $452,221. The Sunbury Bridge was third with $121,904 in 1952 for a total of $428,851.

$9,786 Revenue

The New St. Bridge in Bethlehem—closed for repairs from February to November—look in $9,786 last year.

E. L. Schmidt, state highways secretary, pointed out that the 4½ million dollars in the retirement fund includes $742,079 credited to that account from the deposits of the former holding companies.

Schmidt explained that the state took over all assets of the companies for the purchase prices and in some cases, bank deposits were included.

Schmidt said a big element contributing to the early freeing of the bridges is the Highways Department policy of absorbing maintenance costs from normal department allocations.

Quit Tolls Soon

"This relieves the toll bridge fund of these costs and will result in earlier free bridges on the highways of the Commonwealth," he said.

The state started taking over the privately-owned bridges in 1949 with five going under state control by the end of that year. Four others were in state hands by July of 1950. The state started taking tolls on the Walnut St. Bridge in Harrisburg in April, 1950, pending outcome of the litigation.

The break-down on the 1952 and total income collected by the state for each bridge with 1952 collections and total net income: Market St., Harrisburg, $309,473, $1,634,602; Clarks Ferry, $156,278, $452,221; Allentown, $23,407, $76,819; Ellwood-Koppel, $31,612, $89,482; Sunbury, $121,904, $428,851; Minsi Trail, Bethlehem, $54,596, $156,148; Charleroi-Monessen, $121,133, $365,776; New St., Bethlehem, $9,786, $82,851; Walnut St., Harrisburg, $24,096, $305,710; Point Marion, $72,170, $202,870.

FINDS INDIAN KIDDIES' TOYS CENTURIES OLD

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Move over, Santa, it's not only present-day American children who have demanded toys on this old continent. Recent excavations in Central Pennsylvania show that Indian small fry also went for playthings in a big way.

John A. Witthoft, Pennsylvania state anthropologist, has numerous examples of toy clay pots exhumed from the graves of Indian children of many centuries ago.

Fingerprint Proof

How does he know that the objects are toys and not just smaller utensils?

"Observe the finger-prints," says Witthoft. "They're definitely the prints of children's hands."

Besides, he added, the pots are smaller and more crudely made. Adult Indians attained a much greater degree of proficiency in fashioning their clay implements.

Most recent excavations to turn up such Indian remnants were carried out by Witthoft and a colleague, Samuel S. Farver, of Palmyra, at two Lebanon County sites.

Before White Man

The researchers carried on their digging on the farm of Elmer Summy, three and a half miles northeast of Palmyra, and on the land of Elwin Miller, four miles south of the Summy site.

Both one-time Indian villages were inhabited by people who had disappeared before ever having contact with white men. Their old homes are classified as "Shenck's Ferry Sites."

That title was adopted for people of that age—they lived from about the 12th to the 17th centuries—after excavations were made at Shenck's Ferry Station, Lancaster County, in 1931.

York County Traces

Traces of the Shenck's Ferry people have been found also in York County, along the Susquehanna river to Sunbury and up the West Branch to at least Renovo.

Students of these ancient people believe they were either destroyed or absorbed the later Susquehannocks, first Indians in the area to have contacts with Europeans.

Witthoft has found much pottery on the Lebanon County sites. It was buried with the owners—probably in the belief that the dead would need food.

Fragments of pipes also were found with their owners. Pipes at first were used mainly for ceremonial purposes, it is believed. Apparently the smoking habit grabbed the Indians, however, for greater numbers of pipe fragments are found in later graves and village sites.

Boy, 12, Killed By Trap For Burglars

READING, Pa. (AP)—Francis Eckenroth, 12, was killed today when he was struck by a blast from a shotgun set up as a trap for burglars at a summer bungalow along Tulpehocken Creek, three miles north of here.

Police said the blast hit the boy in the back and shoulder as a window was opened in the bungalow of Levi Keith, 52, of Reading. Keith was held at state police barracks for questioning.

Keith told police that he set up the burglar trap after the bungalow was broken into four times in a year, the last time on Saturday when $300 worth of fishing tackle was stolen.

The Eckenroth boy resides about a block from the bungalow. A half-brother, Richard King, 15, told police that he and Francis were trying to get into the bungalow to retrieve a knife which they said was thrown through a window pane last Friday.

PORTER RESIGNS

PARIS (AP)—Paul R. Porter, No. 2 man in Europe for America's economic and military aid program has resigned, the Paris office of the Mutual Security Administration announced today.

umption that all is well, and why he was concerned about tomorrow might well lead us to the brink of disaster. We've put off until tomorrow what we should do today.

"Third, another way in which we are getting away from spiritual values is in our growing immorality, in our feeling of being above or beyond the law in our personal relationships and in our business dealings. We cannot go on and expect to escape the consequences. This can be shown in history, in the downfall of other once-great nations."

Lack Respect For Others

Rev. Meredith listed his fourth point as "a general lack of concern for our fellow men," and cited recent strikes in Baltimore and Philadelphia, which, he said, "showed a disregard for the health, safety and well being of thousands."

"Unions," he said, "have a definite part in the American way of life and have made definite contributions to this way of life, but the actions, usually of small groups, have often threatened, without regard for the consequences, the great bulk of citizens."

"When we become so well organized that we disregard the rights of the individual man, we stand on the brink of disaster," he said.

Puzzling Contradictions

"More backward nations," he said, "are often given cause to wonder at the contradictions between the Christian professions of this country, Great Britain and others and the exploitations which have robbed countries of their natural resources and exploited their peoples. Is it any wonder that the peoples of the world doubt our professions of good will and our professions of seeking to improve their lot and are confused as to what our intentions really are?"

The meeting was held at Bankert's Restaurant, with the president of the club, E. Donald Scott, presiding. President Scott named Glenn Guise, David E. Garfinkle and Ernest Simpson as a nominating committee, to present a slate of candidates for president, vice president, secretary, treasurer and three members of the board of control.

President Scott announced that reserved seats for the club's show, "Shooting Stars," will go on sale Monday at the Bookmart, instead of at the Bickle Insurance Agency. He expressed appreciation to Mr. Bickle for use of two display windows for pictures of the children entered in the contest being conducted in connection with the show, and to the G. C. Murphy Co. for loan of one of its employees for arranging the window

Warriors Trip Mechanicsburg 54-35 For Eighth Decision; Reserves Take Opener 39-37

Unimpressive for most of the first three periods, the Gettysburg High School basketball team, with four reserves in the lineup, finished strong to defeat Mechanicsburg here Tuesday evening 54-35 in a South Penn League game before the smallest crowd of the season.

The Warriors were without the services of their scoring ace, "Skip" Fissel, who suffered a leg injury several days ago and will be out of action indefinitely.

Tuesday's triumph gives the Forney-men a 3-2 mark in the league race and a season record of 8-2.

Neither team could show any sustained offensive punch in the first period which ended in a 10-10 deadlock. At the end of three minutes it was 1-1 via fouls by Jim Skinner and Earl Kohlhaas. Bob Hixon finally rammed through a shot from the side for the Warriors a few seconds later for the initial field goal. Gettysburg led 10-6 with a minute remaining but goals by Don Kauffman and Kohlhaas tied it up.

Bobby Rohrbach, substituting for Fissel, rammed through two long tosses to open the second period before Enck and Ulrich looped free tosses for the Wildcats. A goal and foul by George Penn, goal by Jay Schmitt and foul toss by Skinner enabled the Warriors to hold a 21-17 half time lead. Gettysburg found itself forced out from beneath the boards by the hustling Wildcats and seldom got more than one shot.

Start To Pull Away
Midway in the third period the Warriors held a four-point lead and then started to pull away as Penn, Skinner and Rohrbach connected from the floor. At the end of the period the locals led 36-26.

Three quick goals in the early moments of the last frame by Gus Dayhoff, Rohrbach and Schmitt left little doubt as to the outcome. Coach Forney's combination of Dayhoff, Schmitt, Penn, Rohrbach and Pete Baughman outplayed the visitors throughout and in the final minutes the remaining substitutes took the court. Schmitt got three goals in the period.

Rohrbach and Kauffman took the scoring honors for their respective teams, each landing six goals. Ross Sachs' jayvees roared off to a 12-2 in the first period but were forced to battle the whole way to eventually eke out a 39-37 victory in the preliminary game. The lead saw-sawed several times in the last half before the Warriors spurred in the closing minutes. Stanton Musser connected for 16 points to spark the locals while Dougherty collected a similar number for Mechanicsburg.

WALCOTT DENIES HE'LL NOT FIGHT

CAMDEN, N. J. — (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Jersey Joe Walcott, incensed at New York State Athletic Commissioner Robert Christenberry's statement that Walcott would probably never fight again, said yesterday the New York boxing head is "nothing but a bellhop."

Christenberry made his statement Monday night at a Wilmington, Del., sports writers and broadcasters dinner.

The Camden heavyweight, who lost his title last June to Rocky Marciano, said he has every intention of fighting the new champ again. But, he added that he would do nothing until his manager, Felix Bocchicchio, is well again.

Bocchicchio was stricken with a heart attack in New York recently where he was negotiating for the return bout. He is in a New York hospital and is listed as "in serious condition."

LANDY OUT FOR NEW MILE MARK

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — John Landy, fastest known miler in the world today, will go on Saturday in a calculated attempt to crash through the four-minute barrier.

Landy, a 22-year-old curly-haired Australian student of agricultural science, ran a mile Dec. 13 in 4 minutes 21 seconds. Today he looks like the best prospect for a four-minute performance and, what's more, he believes it is possible for him to do it before very long.

Saturday he'll be running in the Australian Championship Meet at Perth in torrid West Australia. "It will be a fast mile," Landy said just before he left Melbourne for the West. "I'll be trying hard, but it's a gamble. It will depend on the condition of the track, how I'm feeling that day, and the weather. Most people agree it is very difficult to break a record with the temperature anything over 85."

JR. HI SWEEPS CAGE GAMES AT MECHANICSBURG

Rogers Herr's Gettysburg Junior High dribblers won their third straight decision on Tuesday evening by nipping Mechanicsburg 32-31 on the latter's floor.

The locals secured a 14-9 lead in the first half and held grimly to a narrow margin despite a second half Wildcat rally.

Time and again the Junior High lads missed comparatively easy lay-ups but proved efficient from the foul line to gain the victory. John Coleman and Merle Gorman were particularly capable under the boards.

The Jayvees turned in a much improved performance in the opener to win 33-30. Better ball handling and defensive work, plus good foul shooting, turned the trick for Luther Sachs' charges.

The varsity and Jayvees, both with 3-2 records, meet Hanover on the latter's floor Friday.

Mountaineers Host To Terrors Tonight

Tonight the Mt. St. Mary's College dribblers open a long home stand when they entertain Western Maryland in a Mason-Dixon Conference game in the Mountaineers' spacious Memorial gymnasium.

Coach Bill Clarke is optimistic about the chances his Blue and White squad has in over-hauling the conference leaders with 10 of the remaining loop games being carded for the Mount court. Mt. St. Mary's has a conference record of 5-2 and a season mark of 7-5.

Following tonight's twin bill with the Terrors, the Mount will be host to Gettysburg College Saturday night.

The Mountaineer frosh will meet unbeaten Bethlehem Catholic High in a preliminary game at 6:45 Saturday. Bethlehem, pacing the Philadelphia Suburban Catholic League and with a 13-0 record, is coached by Johnny Howard, a crack athlete at Gettysburg College a number of years ago.

15 Goals Scored By Flyers; Reds

By The Associated Press
At least two American Hockey League games, Red Almas of the St. Louis Flyers and Harvey Bennett of the Providence Reds, may soon start campaigning for a less lively puck.

Fifteen goals were tallied last night as the Flyers outscored the Reds 9-6 in the only AHL game played. Seven of the markers came in the final period.

The victory moved the fourth place Flyers within four points of the Hershey Bears, in third place. Providence remained in the fifth spot.

Ken Hayden led the St. Louis attack with three goals. Motto McLean scored twice for the Flyers and Zilio Toppazzini duplicated for Providence.

Biglerville and Boiling Springs, who clash Friday night at Boiling Springs, retained their perfect records in the Adams County Basketball League by registering victories Tuesday evening.

Dick Allison's Cammers hopped off to a 13-6 lead in the first quarter and finished strong to trounce New Oxford 55-37 on the Biglerville court. Terry Hutton bombed the nets for 24 points for the winners and was aided by 15 by Lower and 10 by Dehoff. All of New Oxford's points were evenly divided.

Boiling Springs trailed 17-16 in the first quarter and then outscored East Berlin, last year's champ, in each of the succeeding periods to triumph 63-45 at East Berlin. Hoffman led East Berlin with 17 tallies which made him high man for the evening. Burschell and Lebo each landed 13 points for the Bubblers.

Littlestown handed Fairfield its fifth straight league reverse 61-22 on the Thunderbolts' floor. The Bolts led all the way and were never in trouble. Bob Koonz with 12 Dean Yealy with 9 and Russ, Potteroff with 9 points paced Littlestown's scoring. Howard Bettis landed 10 for Fairfield.

York Springs also suffered its fifth consecutive league reverse in bowling to Newville 61-31 at York Springs. Carson Speelman turned in an outstanding performance for the losers with 25 tallies. Heberlig and Zeigler secured 24 and 21, respectively, for Newville.

"FREEZE" BALL AGAINST BEVO; HIS TEAM WINS

TROP, O. (AP) — Some 7,000 basketball fans calmed down today after creating a near-riot last night in protest of stalling tactics against the nation's leading scorer, Clarence (Bevo) Francis, and his Rio Grande, O., College teammates.

A group stormed the box office demanding refund, but police broke up the disorder.

Coach Floyd Rees, Cedarville, O., College game mentor, has ordered his boys to use "possession ball" strategy.

"Whether the fans like it or not, I'm going to do that because it is our only chance to win," he said.
Held To 38 Points
The fans didn't like it and the change didn't work as Rio Grande easily downed Cedarville, 66-29.
Bevo, held to 11 points in the first half, hit for a game total of 38 markers, below his 50 point average. He now has 1,146 points for 23 games, including the national record of 116 points scored in a single tilt.

Cedarville made action so dull that Bevo signed autographs during the game and conversed with fans. The crowd jeered, cat-called and threw coins and papers onto the playing floor.

Kid Gavilan Meets Vic Cardell Tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kid Gavilan, the world's welterweight champion, tonight meets a rough but relatively unknown fighter, Vic Cardell of Wilson, Conn., in a 10-round non-title bout.

The fight will be televised nationally, and it takes on added interest because it's Gavilan's last showing before he meets the popular Chuck Davey in a championship bout in Chicago, Feb. 11.

JOE DIMAGGIO TO GET SPOT IN HALL OF FAME

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe DiMaggio is expected to be voted into baseball's Hall of Fame today when the ballots are counted for the 1953 election.

Bill Terry, Dizzy Dean and Al Simmons are other stars of the past who are certain to receive strong support from the 10-year members of the Baseball Writers Association, who do the voting.

DiMaggio, who retired after the 1951 World Series, is eligible for the first time after one year's inactivity. Seventy-five per cent of the votes are required for election.

Holds All-Time Record
There is no accurate figure on the number of votes cast but it is expected to approximate the 234 of last year. Only players, now inactive, but who have seen active service in the last 25 years are eligible.

DiMaggio's consecutive game hitting streak of 56 in 1941, an all-time major league record, probably will be more than enough to boost him into the elite company in the Cooperstown, N. Y., Hall of Fame. For 13 active years with the New York Yankees, from 1936 through 1951, with time out for military service, DiMaggio had a lifetime batting average of .325 with 2,214 hits in 1,736 games.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Gen. Goethals Dies Today: New York, Jan. 21. (AP)—Maj. Gen. George W. Goethals, builder of the Panama Canal, died at his apartment here today.
Gen. Goethals was chief engineer of the Panama Canal from 1907 to 1914 and the first civil governor of the Panama Canal zone from 1914 to 1916.
He was consulting engineer for the Port of New York during the construction of the Holland vehicular tunnel.

Y.W.C.A. Drive Lunched: The campaign to raise $2500, half of the budget necessary to conduct the affairs of the Young Women's Christian Association, opened Monday in Gettysburg with a luncheon of the forty solicitors at the Y.W.C.A. building at noon.

Mrs. Myrtle Bell is chairman of the drive in Gettysburg and assisting her are a number of teams captained by Mrs. John Brehm, Mrs. W. Preston Hull, Mrs. John Cronk, Miss Hattie Krauth, Mrs. Kendrick Lynch, Mrs. Mark Eckert, Mrs. Jessie Easterday, Mrs. John McIlhenny, Mrs. H. D. Hoover, Mrs. C. N. Gitt, Mrs. Ralph Purdy and Mrs. Earl Deatrick.

The speakers at the luncheon were Mrs. M. Hadwin Fischer, Miss Edna Eicholtz, Mrs. Bell and Miss Metta Mitchell.
The team captains in other county communities are Mrs. William Oyler, Mrs. U. S. Kleinfelter, Mrs. Harry Raffensperger, Miss Mildred Deardorff, Mrs. Robert Reindollar, Miss Zoe Haskells, Mrs. Arthur Griest, Miss Ruth McIlhenny, Mrs. Roland Biggs, Mrs. Ruth Himes Flahartz, Mrs. J. C. Birely, Mrs. A. R. Myers and Miss Rose Barker.

Buys Grocery Store: Henry Albright, West Middle street, on Tuesday took possession of the grocery store of Paul Strausbaugh, York street. Mr. Albright, who has been in the grocery business here for ten years, has been with N. L. Minter for the past five years. The transfer was made through C. A. Williams.

Gas Office Moved: The office of the Gettysburg gas company was moved Friday from 102 Baltimore street to the newly remodeled building, the former parsonage of the Trinity Reformed Church, Carlisle street, which the company has purchased. The front of the new room will be used for display purposes, while H. H. Miller, manager of the local concern, will have his office in the rear of the room.
Two apartments have been fitted up in the remainder of the building.

Large Crowd at I. O. O. F. Circus: Entertainment, which thrilled at times and amused at others, was staged for nearly 500 persons for nearly two hours at the initial show of the ten-night indoor circus, sponsored by the Gettysburg lodge of Odd Fellows, in the Hotel Gettysburg annex Thursday evening.

Ten acts, having wide and varied appeal, were staged during the evening, and the entertainment was free from any hint of the offensive or improper.
After the circus, dancing was offered to the audience and a number of couples availed themselves of the opportunity to compete for the dance prize. The couple judged the most popular were Miss Beatrice Minter and Clair Eden. Miss Minter also won the door prize.

D. R. Stoops Agin Named President of Supervisors: D. R. Stoops was re-elected president of the Adams county township supervisors' association at the twelfth annual convention, Thursday afternoon at the court house.
Other officers chosen include William H. Arnold, vice president; P. A. T. Bower, secretary; John J. Bollinger, treasurer; D. R. Stoops, P. A. T. Bower and Parker Gardner, state representatives; and William H. Arnold, Stanley Smith and Harry Emlet, alternate.
In a set of resolutions, the supervisors asked that the state appropriation for state reward road work for the 1929-30 biennium be not less than $6,000,000. The resolutions, drawn by C. A. Hartman, Parker Gardner and Guy S. Robert,

LOVE THAT GOLF
Of all outdoor games, that of golf takes the prize in my book. I started it late in life (aged thirty-five). Then, after fifteen years of devotion to the sport, a couple of surgeons put me on a forced vacation. But now I have had a relapse to its love, after reading one of the most amusing — and expert — books I have ever read — Don Herold's "Love That Golf."

Outside being one of America's outstanding advertising men, a humorist, and artist, Don Herold has written a book that any lover of golf can well take to heart — and get "fun out of fun." He says he was 45 years of age before he knew it was fun to "get out of a chair." Now he confesses he is unhappy if he lives more than a few feet from a golf course.

Don Herold sees a philosophy in life in golf, and he is right. I have always contended that you learned more about a man after a game of golf with him than in any other way. He blossoms right out in the way he plays his game. Herold says you can't play good golf "when you are mad at your wife," or "when you are mad at anything or anybody." You have to be in love with your game and with life.

The author quotes from many of the great and immortal in golf, noting their wise sayings and good advice, and he gems his book throughout with his own humor and examples of improvements, through experience and practice. If you have never played a game of golf this book of Herold's will give you many a chuckle. His own illustrations are superb in their sly humor, like the one where he says under it: "Golf should be taught to music," or the one where he says: "I regret that I have but one life to give to golf."

Don Herold also says in his book that "there's something spiritual about the game," and I agree with him. There is refreshment in this brief book for any golfer, whether expert or not. He says you can't mix golf "with hate or haste."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Only Believe" Protected, 1953, George Matthew Adams Service

INAUGURAL BALL RUNS TO 3 A.M.; IKE LEAVES AT 1

WASHINGTON (AP)—Happy Republicans swarmed on into the wee hours of today in a last great and gala jubilee marking the inauguration of President Eisenhower. And Eisenhower and his lady celebrated right along with them.
They didn't hold out until the final curtain at 3 a.m., but departed at 1:18, comparatively the shank of the evening. Long lines of limousines and taxis, stalled in traffic, were still bringing guests when he left.

Ike In Fine Pettie
The new President was in fine fettle, right up to the end. He still looked daisy-fresh, although his day had begun 18 hours earlier and had included the most impressive event any American can experience—being sworn in as president of the United States.
This was a double-jointed jubilee. At opposite ends of Washington two big, bull-chested halls had been given over to the celebration. One was the National Guard Armory, the other the McDonough Auditorium at Georgetown University.

Tickets Were $12
Officially, it was a white-tie and bare-shoulders event, and most of the guests conformed. Tickets were $12 apiece, and you had to know somebody who knew somebody to get them.
It was a brilliantly dressed throng. There were tiaras and jorgnettes, fabulous jewels — or some very expert copies thereof — full flaring gowns with trains, and décolletage that defied gravity.
Orchid corsages were as common as dandelions on a summer lawn.

Movie Personalities There
Well before the President's first appearance, most of the celebrities were on hand—Cabinet designees John Foster Dulles, Martin P. Durkin, George M. Humphrey, and Wilson; Harold E. Stassen, named to be mutual security director.
Most of the senators and congressmen had taken boxes.
Movie personalities, some of whom had entertained on Monday night, moved around the room gazing at political celebrities pretty much as people usually gaze at them. Few people sat still. They moved, endlessly, wheeling round and round the room.

"Hail To Chief"
At 10:45, the Air Force band in blue-and-scarlet crashed out the opening bars of "Hail to the Chief," the song that announces the arrival of all presidents.
Then, in an upper box, Eisenhower and Mamie and the members of their family filed in. A cheer went up. The President waved and made the V-gesture with his upraised arms. His wife smiled a little girl's smile.
Instantly, opera glasses and jorgnettes blossomed all over the room, most of them trained on her dress.

Edmiston pleaded guilty to the charge on Monday in U. S. District Court.

COUNTY TALENT SHOW MAR. 21 AT FAIRGROUNDS

The first day of spring will see the South Mountain Fair-grounds filled with talent from throughout the county.

A. H. Good, named by the South Mountain Community and Fair Association as chairman of its amateur show committee, said today that the annual "Conclave of Adams County Talent" will be held the night of March 21 at memorial auditorium in the fairgrounds.

Already "a large number" of contestants have contacted Good at his home, Gettysburg R. 4, to enter in the amateur show. Last year the annual event was "skipped" and Good said that as a result "there seems to be unusual demand this year for participation in the event."

May Have Two Nights
Persons wishing to participate are asked to contact Good, phone Gettysburg 955-R-13. "If we get too many for one night, as seems possible, we'll hold a second amateur show on another night," the fair association director said.

Persons planning to enter the contest are asked to inform Good of their particular talent, dancing, singing, pantomiming, comedy or whatever, in order to arrange the program so all classical music won't appear at one time, and all hilarity at another, or all dancing acts follow one after another.
"It may be possible that a rehearsal will be held, if all contestants are willing, to allow those participating to run through their performance on the stage at the fairgrounds before appearing at the public performance," Good added.
The Biglerville High School band will present a half hour concert, from 7:30 to 8 o'clock, on the evening at the auditorium, preceding the amateur show.

Truman Follows Ike's Lead On Hat Style

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry Truman made it unanimous Tuesday—he wore a black homburg.

Dwight Eisenhower had scrapped tradition for his inauguration as President, announcing that he'd go to the ceremony in a black homburg.

Tradition had it that the President-elect journey to the Capitol wearing a tall silk hat. Truman wore one four years ago.

When Ike called for Truman at the White House Tuesday, the retiring chief executive stepped outside wearing a black homburg. Up to that point, his style of headgear had been kept secret.

Ancient Sumerians, Babylonians and Assyrians worshipped a god called Tammuz who died and was resurrected annually with the vegetation.

Arendtsville Fruit Lab Is Featured In State Bulletin

The Arendtsville Fruit Research Laboratory at Arendtsville and its work are featured in a pictorial supplement to a Pennsylvania State College Bulletin containing the annual report of the State College Experimental Station of which the Arendtsville unit is a branch.

Eight pictures taken in the laboratory at Arendtsville and Adams County orchards accompany brief articles in "Insect Control," by Dean Asquith; "Disease Control," by Fred H. Lewis, and "Orchard Management," by Frank N. Hewetson.

"Improved methods of fruit growing radiate from the Fruit Research Laboratory at Arendtsville. Within the region, as distance from the laboratory increases, orchard practices tend to be less up-to-date," according to a general article accompanying the illustrations. The history of fruit research work at Arendtsville from the day of R. J. Walton who began the study of fruit diseases there in 1918 up to the present is traced briefly. "Many scientists have done lasting and important work at the laboratory," the bulletin asserts.

Man Vs. Insects

"Man's ageless battle against insects and other fruit pests seems never to be won, despite advances made through new chemicals, new mechanical devices and ever-mounting information on the pests themselves," Mr. Asquith observes in his article on "Insect Control."

"Yet control of such pests can be maintained, often economically," he continues. "Man gains by saving fruit from insect damage, thus improving it in quality and quantity. Spraying with mist concentrates, as developed at this laboratory, is an example of such progress. Growers were quick to adopt this method in which finely divided concentrated chemicals are applied at lower rates than the heavy washing sprays and suspensions formerly used. Savings in spray materials, in machine operation and in labor requirements have effected economies up to 40 per cent of former costs."

Timing Important

"To combat the repetitious invasions of insects, mites, and other fruit pests, much of the work in entomology is devoted to proper timing of sprays. Studies of the biology and control of certain pests, such as the codling moth on apples or plums, curculio on peaches, are continuous. Any new machine or material providing a more effective or more economical spray demands immediate attention."

"Yet just when control of one serious pest seems at hand, often another breaks forth in surprising numbers. Such was the case when mites became numerous after DDT brought the codling moth and other insects under control. New acaricides useful in concentrates, now are under test. At present, the red-banded leaf-roller is becoming troublesome in some apple orchards."

"Because the major crops—cherries, peaches and apples—are marketed both fresh and processed, use of chemicals that control pests and diseases requires certain precautions to assure the consumer of products free of toxic materials. Materials used and methods of application effective on a particular condition with one fruit often fail to control attacks on a different fruit or under other conditions."

Key Block of Trees

The development of a block of virus-free sour cherry trees at the Arendtsville lab is described as "probably the outstanding product of continued effort over the years at this laboratory" by Fred H. Lewis of the laboratory staff in an article in the same bulletin supplement on "Disease Control." A picture of the sour cherry orchard that provides budwood free of necrotic ring spot and yellows to nurseries in Pennsylvania and neighboring states accompanies the article.

Mr. Lewis writes: "This group of trees, under constant surveillance, provides bud wood free of necrotic ring spot and yellows, virus disease infections, for all of Pennsylvania and neighboring states to the south and east. While budwood from this block is available to any grower, proximity of the course of supply has prompted utilization of this material by local nurseries."

"Completion of the new greenhouse at the laboratory has improved facilities for the virus testing work, which is aided by J. S. Boyle at the College. Budwood tests can be made and sources indexed in the greenhouse easier than by transporting the materials to the College."

Valuable To Growers

"Size, color and quality of cherries in relation to fungicides is another major line. Timing and needs for cherry sprays under certain conditions is of vital concern to growers. For several years this laboratory has been able to predict, in advance, when apple scab and brown rot of peaches could be serious. This information is of untold value to growers."

"Which of the many new chemicals available in recent years can safely be used as fungicides can only be determined by continuous testing. Changes in machinery design or function, which alter spray methods, of necessity require further tests when fungicidal sprays are involved."

"The quick and wide acceptance of spraying with mist concentrates developed at this laboratory illustrates how rapidly former mixtures and rates of application must change to meet new conditions. Similarly, because many of the newer chemicals are not compatible—cannot be mixed without interaction—special attention must be given to components of spray mixtures."

Three Lines Of Work

The three-fold program being undertaken at the research lab at Arendtsville under the head of "Orchard Management" is described in the following words by Frank N. Hewetson of the lab staff:

"Three major lines of work occupy the horticultural interests at this laboratory. These include orchard soil management, new cultural practices, and variety testing. Attention is also being given to such matters as: use of specific herbicides to control noxious weeds in orchards, new materials to control fruit set, rejuvenation of old orchards, and the many factors affecting fruit tree nutrition."

"Eighty-five peach varieties are under test in a four-acre tract. While new varieties are constantly added for testing their adaptations to Pennsylvania growing conditions, these peach trees also become a source of budwood for nurserymen wishing to increase promising varieties. In addition, fruit from the peach variety tests provide a flow of data on yield, as well as for tests on processing possibilities, suitability for freezing and canning."

Weather Station Helps

"In the nutritional studies, various cover crops, different types, rates, and combinations of fertilizer applications are measured to study effects on growth of fruit trees, conditions of foliage as well as their effect on soil condition, texture, and moisture-holding capacities. Materials being studied as cover crops include bluegrass, ladino clover, a rye-vetch association, and sudan-grass-soybean association, not merely for winter cover, but also for possible year-round cover. Such materials must be evaluated along with fertilizer applications for tree growth, costs, convenience in management, and for erosion control.

"The study of orchard soil management is being conducted by R. B. Alderfer. Cover crops are being evaluated for their effect on the soil. "Weather recording instruments at the laboratory not only provide data to make field reports more meaningful, but each day Radio Station WGET at Gettysburg broadcasts these records for the benefit of growers in the area."

"Many phases of the fruit tree nutrition work require chemical analyses to confirm field observations. In this respect this laboratory is unique in that it includes a modest but fully equipped chemistry laboratory capable of prompt tests from field specimens. Studies of chemicals for control of orchard weeds, such as poison ivy, already have given growers information of practical value, and newer herbicides are being tested for possible future use. Certain chemicals under test show promise of acquiring a definite place in good orchard management."

Plan Aerial Search For Uranium In Pa.

NEW YORK (AP)—The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission announced today that air surveys will be conducted in the vicinity of Meuch Chunk, Pa., in the next 30 days in a search for uranium, the mineral used in the atom bomb.

Planes for the flights will be furnished by Safair Flying Services, Inc., of Teterboro, N. J. The air surveys will assist the commission's raw materials division in determining whether further government exploration in the area is warranted.

In the course of the surveys light aircraft carrying radiation detection instruments will survey the general area north and south of Meuch Chunk.

FERGUSON DARED to be DIFFERENT!

Today... Ferguson's Daring Ideas are being Copied by Many... but Equalled by None!

Look around and close by, you'll probably see an all-gray tractor with a chevron-shaped name plate on the hood front! If it's the new, more powerful Ferguson Tractor with valve-in-head power, you'll see the name "FERGUSON" on the chevron. If it's an earlier model, you'll find the words "FERGUSON SYSTEM" on the chevron.

Both tractors are built around the complete, genuine Ferguson System! Look around again (or read the tractor ads) and you'll see that almost every tractor manufacturer has adapted one or more of the basic features of the Ferguson System.

But, today, you get that complete Ferguson System ONLY in the Ferguson Tractor.

METERS BEING CONSIDERED BY TOWN COUNCIL

Dillsburg Town Council has taken steps to install parking meters in Dillsburg. A manufacturer's representative of a concern handling the meters will be sent to make a survey of the borough and decide if the meters would be advantageous.

Citizens of Dillsburg are urged to attend the next Council meeting in order to voice their opinions on this subject.

Mrs. Rhoda Hockenberry, local Republican committeewoman, represented the Council of Northern York County Republican Women at the Presidential Inauguration on Tuesday at Washington. At the January meeting of the council Thursday evening in the social room of the Community Hall, Mrs. Hockenberry will give her report of the inauguration. The ladies' quartet of the First EUB Church of Mechanicsburg will provide special music and a social period will follow the business meeting.

The WSCS members of the Dillsburg Methodist Church are making plans to bake and sell doughnuts in the church social room Shrove Tuesday, February 17. Orders for doughnuts will be taken and delivered, or can be bought at the church.

Mrs. Rose Reaick Tanguy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Reaick Sr., Dillsburg, will play the role of Gertrude in Shakespeare's "Hamlet" to be given at Westminster College in March. Since the role is double cast, she will play on alternate nights. Her part is one of the two leading female roles in the play.

Delegation To Inaugural

Charles Wonders, N. Baltimore St., Dillsburg, suffered a broken thumb of his right hand while operating a hammermill on Friday at Kinter and Grove Feed Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Baird Knaub are visiting New York City where they are attending the annual Furniture Show at the Furniture Mart. Over 16 floors of exhibits are on display. Mr. and Mrs. Knaub will return to Dillsburg this evening.

At 4 o'clock Tuesday morning a busload of Dillsburg citizens left for the inauguration ceremonies of Dwight D. Eisenhower in Washington, D. C. Over 30 persons left on the bus and several carloads of people also made the trip. They returned Tuesday evening.

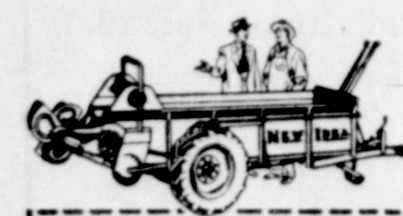

On Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, the Monaghan Kirk Club of the Monaghan Presbyterian Church was held at Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Marter's home. An "Information Please" type quiz show was enjoyed. GRAND JURORS TO INVESTIGATE STATE PEN RIOT

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Western State Penitentiary, where peaceful prisoners busied themselves today repairing the damage they done, face a grand jury investigation.

Dist. Atty. James F. Malone of Allegheny County said yesterday he will ask Judge Sara M. Soffel to recall the January grand jury Monday to probe conditions which led to the revolt of 1,000 convicts Sunday.

Estimating the 24-hour riot will cost taxpayers "several hundred thousand dollars," Malone declared:

"The investigating will inquire not only into the complaints of the prisoners, but also into the operation of the prison itself."

Seek Investigators

He added the grand jury will attempt to learn which convicts, if any, instigated the riot, Malone said they can be prosecuted for arson and malicious mischief.

William C. Brown, secretary of the State Department of Welfare, says his office also will investigate the uprising.

In Uniontown, a Fayette County assemblyman said he plans to ask the Legislature Monday to create a committee to make a "searching inquiry" at all state penal institutions.

Rep. Nicholas Kornick, Democrat, said his action was prompted by riots at Western State Penitentiary and the Rockview Prison Farm. The proposed committee would report its findings to the Legislature.

PARADER DIES IN TRAIN BERTH

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Two deaths and approximately 200 other casualties were listed today in the wake of yesterday's five-hour Inaugural Parade.

The dead: Lee F. Farmer, 52, member of the Long Beach, Calif., mounted sheriff's posse, found dead, apparently of a heart attack in his pullman berth last night.

Vincent Bovello, 56, Washington, who died last night in a hospital, apparently from a stroke. He collapsed while watching the parade.

Most of the victims were cared for at 15 first aid stations set up along route. Those taken to hospitals for treatment included: John L. Getman, 84, Philadelphia; Mrs. Edna Miley, 39, York, Pa.; Mrs. Emma Shirk, Tyrone, Pa.; Mrs. Esther Temby, 69, Forty Fort, Pa.

The medical aid committee reported these "ambulance cases," most of whom were treated at first aid stations: John Bilovick, Mahanoy City, Pa.; Josephine Ryan, Mahanoy, Pa.; Catherine Ingraham, Steelton, Pa.

DILLSBURG—Mr. and Mrs. Chalmer Baker, Dillsburg, entertained members of the Winners class of the Wellsville EUB Sunday School recently when Mrs. Charles Baker Jr. as co-hostess. Mrs. Marlin Rosenberger had charge of the program. The class made final plans for the sponsorship of a musical program at the church Sunday evening, January 25. Their teacher is Mrs. Harry Wagner and the pastor, the Rev. Percy D. Brown.

A present project of the Dillsburg Fish and Game Association is the sponsorship of a series of public shooting matches to be held near town with prizes for the high-scoring participants.

Mrs. Russell Flohr, near Dillsburg, who had been living in Miami, Fla., since shortly after the death of her husband, recently entertained there Mrs. John W. Haar, near Brown's Dam, and Mr. and Mrs. Cline Bassett, Laurel, York Co., formerly of East Berlin R. 3.

Clair Heidelberg, near Red Mount Church, is preparing to move to the Brown's Dam area near East Berlin where he will occupy the farm of Peter Smith, McSherrystown, after the departure of the John W. Haar family, tenants on the farm for many years, who are discontinuing farming.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Luther Baum, entertained at a birthday dinner last Sunday at their home, Dillsburg R. 2, in honor of their daughter, Celeste Lucinda. The guest of honor, who was three, received many gifts. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Lewis King and children, Naomi, Robert and Jerry Lee, East Berlin R. 1; Donald Newcomer, Spring Grove, R. D.; Mrs. Alda Mae Hoffman, Franklinstown; Mr. and Mrs. J. Ervin Baum, Dillsburg R. 2, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Baum, Marlin L. Baum, Gerald R. Baum, Eldon L. Baum, Celeste L. Baum and Mr. and Mrs. E. Luther Baum.

FINE FLIES HOME

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania said today he expects to leave for Harrisburg by plane at noon "as I had always contemplated."

The governor, who was here for President Eisenhower's inauguration, said he has been informed that the rioting at Rockview State Penitentiary at Bellefonte "is pretty well under control."

Fine will fly home in the Commonwealth's plane.

REDS PREPARE "DEATH ZONE" NEAR BERLIN

BERLIN (AP)—Four hundred East German farmers fled last night to West Berlin and told refugee officials today the Communist plan for a "death zone" around the city is nearing reality.

Most of the farmers said they had been warned that they would be forcibly evacuated to the deep interior of the Russian zone and their lands confiscated.

The group was largely made up of men who have been tilling land near the outskirts of West Berlin on farms which have been in their families for generations.

Roads Blocked

The so-called death zone preparations started several months ago. Communist police indicated they intended to seal off an area one kilometer (five eighths of a mile) deep on the 70-mile West Berlin border. To be caught in this area without specific permission could mean abrupt death from the guns of the Soviet-trained border police.

A similar death zone was built by the Communists on the zonal frontier in Midwest Germany after the Bonn Republic approved the European Defense Treaty last summer.

Roads from West Berlin to the surrounding Soviet zone have systematically been blocked with chains, barbed wire and other barricades this winter. Only two border points now are open, at the elevated train station in Staaken, British sector, and the Fliebnicke Bridge in the American sector. Once there were hundreds of crossing points.

MURDER PROBE SLOWS

READING, Pa. (AP)—The search for the slayer of 14-year-old Dorothy Schlappig continued today, minus a lead which FBI examinations turned into a disappointment.

Det. Lt. Paul Slapikas said the new evidence was examined by the FBI in Washington and the tests were "disappointing." He did not disclose the nature of the new evidence.

SPECIAL: Your Friendly Income Tax Bureau presents, "Herb's Helpful Hints."

These little helpmates are designed to make your income tax an easier job to do. . . Gives you more time for housework.

1. Get fourteen sharp pencils, and a good rubber eraser. Send the kids to the movies. (This is not tax exempt.)

3. Better put a pot of tea on to brew. You're gonna be up late into the night.

4. Unfold the form 1040, and carefully read the directions. Stop scratching your head. I didn't understand them, either.

5. Now subtract your expenses from your income, using line 10, and don't forget the depreciation clause, and the obsolescence. Line 12 is a killer—This means that you have to go back and start all over again, because you forgot to declare your annuities and income from estates. Here's where that eraser comes in.

6. Hunt for that eraser I told you to get.

7. It is now 11 o'clock and the kids have just come from the movies, making further progress impossible.

8. You now have the choice of doing one of two things:

(a) Locate the nearest tax expert, and awaken him.

(b) Join the Foreign Legion.

DILLSBURG . . . Dillsburg enthusiasts have just come up with a terrific idea. A group of men got together and formed the Greater Dillsburg Athletic League. Their purpose: To sponsor athletic teams and events, taking in boys and girls of all ages. Currently, they are working on a basketball league consisting of youngsters from about ten to fourteen. I managed to get to their last meeting and was overwhelmed with the response from the kids. . . They had over fifty-six kids just itching to get their hands on a basketball. . . Walter Burke, Charley Bingham, Bill Shaw, and Barney Cromer seem to be the moving force behind this wonderful idea. The boys will be given the opportunity to take advantage of some expert coaching by local stars, including a few college ball players. Any of you kids that have a yen to learn the game, get yourself a pair of sneakers, and come on up to the Community Hall, and dig in!!

4 CHILDREN DIE IN 2 FIRES

HARRISBURG (AP)—One of three children left alone while their parents worked was burned to death in a fire that destroyed a two-story home in uptown Harrisburg.

The charred body of Dwight Tomlinson, 11-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie B. Tomlinson, was recovered from the wreckage of a downstairs living room after firemen brought the blaze under control yesterday.

Curtis, 2, and Marthella, 4, a brother and sister of the dead boy, were led uninjured from the house by a passerby who told firemen he did not know there was another child in the building.

Firemen believed a piece of burning kindling fell on a couch, setting off the fire.

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three young children died yesterday in a second story bedroom after a fire swept their Philadelphia home and prevented firemen from rescuing the children.

The tots were identified as Norine, 6; Patricia, 4, and John Brown, 2, who were caught in the room when a portable oil stove upset in the living room of the Brown home.

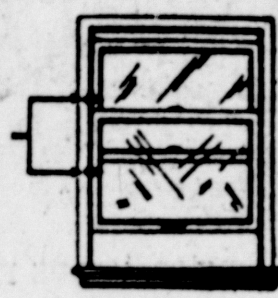

Battalion Chief William Ward fixed the cause of the blaze. Officials did not say where the children's parents were at the time of the fire.

men, with its destination Washington. They all wanted to be on hand for the inauguration of the new President (Ike, wasn't it?) . . . What puzzles me is the fact that a few Democrats sneaked into the bus, namely Mary Smith (who took along her Stevenson pin), hubby Marshall Smith and some others. . . Paging Norm Weigard, Blaine and Ralph Lefever, and Chester Stauffer. How cum you let Bob McClure, Clyde Strayer and all those other Dems ride in the same bus???? We buried the hatchet, huh?

LIONS . . . Local Lions shortly to begin work on the annual Minstrel Show, to feature some new faces this year. . . The new show promises to outdo all previous ones for sheer entertainment and fun. . . Watch the column for more news about this big nothing. . . Bless you all . . . H.H.

New Parcel Post Rate Boost Asked

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today disclosed a petition from the Post Office Department for a new increase in parcel post rates averaging close to 35 per cent.

The petition was filed by Jesse M. Donaldson, who went out of office as postmaster general at noon yesterday. Dated Jan. 15, the plea for higher rates was one of his last official acts.

Postal officials estimated that the proposed hike would raise income from parcel post service by about 130 million dollars a year. These sources said Donaldson had no choice except to file the petition since the package service was operating in the red.

At the present rate of consumption, the United States would use about 50 billion tons of coal in the next 100 years.

IKE WILL HOLD NEWS SESSIONS

WASHINGTON (P)—The White House announced today that President Eisenhower will hold news conferences regularly, probably once a week.

James Hagerty, press secretary, said they would be conducted in the same fashion as were the news conferences in recent Democratic administrations—that is with impromptu questions from the reporters present.

There had been some published reports that Eisenhower might require that all questions be submitted in writing in advance.

Hagerty also announced that Eisenhower is thinking about establishing a custom of periodical reports to the nation by television and radio.

There is some possibility, Hagerty said, that such reports will be in the nature of televised and broadcast news conferences, but he added that no details have been worked out yet.

CHURCH SERVICES

BROWNELL IS FIRST CALLER

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower started his first working day in the White House by receiving his attorney general designate, Herbert Brownell Jr., who called to talk "official business."

Dawn had just broken when a sleepy-eyed Brownell showed up at Eisenhower's White House office. The time was 7:47 a. m., six hours after the new President got home from yesterday's inaugural festivities.

The new President entered his office at 8:02 a. m., 15 minutes after Brownell rolled through the White House gate in a black limousine.

His was the first official appointment of the day and of the new Chief Executive's administration.

At 9:15, Brownell left the President's office, but he avoided newsmen. He had his limousine sent to a side door of the White House and got into it there.

Who would be next on Ike's calling list was not made known.

Tin was known in a copper alloy in Egypt as early as 1600 B.C.

EMPLOYMENT PROSPECTS FOR 1953 ARE GOOD

HARRISBURG (P)—Employment prospects in Pennsylvania for 1953 are the best in the Commonwealth's history, the Bureau of Employment Security observed today.

"Barring any unforeseen developments it appears that employment should top that of 1951 and remain very high during 1953—at least for the first six months," said A. J. Caruso, executive director of the bureau.

Employment in the state set a new record in 1951.

Caruso based his prediction on employment for the last quarter of 1952 which showed a substantial increase over the same period of 1951. The monthly average for 1952's last three months was 4,307,666 compared with 4,286,333 for 1951.

The 1952 steel strike, however, reduced the 1952 yearly average, Caruso said. He added that without the steel dispute, the past year probably would have topped 1951 for a new record.

New Expansion Helps

"The new industrial expansion throughout Pennsylvania, especially in the southeastern section of the state, will have an important effect on state employment," Caruso pointed out.

"Our bureau has estimated that employment would be increased about 20,000 in that area by the opening of new plants and subsidiary employment."

Caruso said that despite the favorable employment picture in the Commonwealth there are still seven areas classed by the federal government as "distressed" sections. They are: Altoona; Pottsville; Clearfield-Dubois; Scranton; Wilkes-Barre-Hazleton; Uniontown-Cornellsville; and Sunbury-Shamokin-Mt. Carmel.

The apparel and textile industries have shown considerable improvement, Caruso said, due primarily to increased consumer buying. The anthracite and bituminous coal industries have picked up only a small portion of a total 26,000 workers dropped since 1950.

MYSTERY SUICIDE

PHILADELPHIA (P)—Police today sought the identity of a young man who apparently committed suicide by taking poison while lying at the bottom of a ditch near International Airport yesterday.

The mystery surrounding the death was heightened when morgue officials found a note taped to the man's abdomen which appeared to be a typewritten code.

SCHUYLKILL HAVEN, Pa. (P)—The U. S. Bureau of Mines believes underground barrier pillars in Pennsylvania's Lackawanna Basin are not sure-fire protection against flooding of active anthracite mines. Nearly 100 barrier pillars—huge blocks of coal left between adjoining mines—confine more than 10 billion gallons of water in 21 underground pools.

MAN, 93, IN PARADE
WASHINGTON (P)—One of the marchers in the Inaugural Parade yesterday is a spry 93.

He is J. Henry Geer, only living charter member of the Beaver County, Pa., Lincoln Republican Club. He stepped out in the club uniform including high silk hat and red, white and blue umbrella.

A tree often contains more water in winter than in summer.

Littlestown JAYCEE DINNER HELD ON MONDAY

Seventeen members of the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce and three visitors enjoyed a dinner session on Monday evening at Schott's Hotel. J. Albert Bair, of town, entertained by showing pictures which he took in Europe while serving in Germany with the United States Army of Occupation. The business period was omitted. The next regular meeting of the Jaycees will be held on Monday, February 2, at Schott's.

James Barnes was the junior leader at the meeting of the Junior Fellowship of the Centenary Methodist Church on Monday evening at the church, with 27 members and two visitors in attendance. The devotional included Scripture reading by Margaret Knight and prayer was offered by David and Dianne Byers. Immediately following the devotion, Mrs. Chester S. Byers explained to the group the intricacies of soap carving. Each member took a cake of soap and a picture of an object suitable for carving to the meeting. Mrs. Byers followed her explanation with illustrations. During this week the children will work on their soap carving projects and at the meeting of the group next Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock, Mrs. Byers will judge the work in the different age groups and prizes will be awarded.

Entertainment on Monday included the playing of children's records, and novelty songs, part of which was the story of Peter Pan for the younger children. It was reported that the members of the Junior Fellowship attended the worship service, in a group, last Sunday morning, and also sponsored the bulletin for that day. Games and contests in charge of Mrs. Albert H. Miller Jr. concluded the evening's meeting. Next Monday, the junior leader will be Ruth Myers and the following week, February 2, James and Kenneth Knight will be in charge of the program and entertainment.

Vote Donations

A contribution of $200 was voted to the organ fund of Redeemer's Reformed Church by the members of the Hustlers' Sunday School class of Redeemer's at the monthly meeting held on Monday evening in the social hall of the church. The group also voted a donation of $5 to the March of Dimes. The birthday money was also turned in at the meeting. The business period was conducted by the president, Mrs. F. Bernard Cornell. A paper products demonstration followed.

During the social hour, refreshments were served to the 22 members and 10 visitors in attendance by the January committee composed of Mrs. Cornell, Mrs. George I. Bemiller, Mrs. Paul Crabbs, Mrs. Lloyd E. Crouse and Miss Lillian Demmitt. The next meeting of the class will be held Monday, February 16, at the church, with Mrs. Walter F. Crouse, chairman, Mrs. L. William Collins and Mrs. Carroll Dodder comprising the entertainment and refreshment committee.

Chief Lists Arrests

Littlestown Chief of Police Melvin H. Swab has listed a group of arrests made during the past several days. The following were apprehended for motor code violations: Jack Patterson, Wanda Creek Rd., Riviera Beach, Md.; Clifford Berwager, Hanover; Edward Armstrong, Jr., Lancaster; Kenneth L. Shelton, Taneytown R. 1; Charles Earl Howard, Reisterstown, Md.; John D. Miller, Manchester, Md.; Charles Topper, New Oxford R. 1; Raymond D. Slade, Hanover; Edgar L. Arter, Littlestown R. 2; Paul E. Kerns, 324 Prince St., Littlestown; Robert L. Sebastian, Westminster R. 5; Frank Varden Armstrong, Baltimore; Richard Buckley, Gardner; Ray N. Patterson, Chambersburg.

Ruth Lytle Dean, Holmesburg, Pa.; Russell and Dale C. Taylor, Flora Dale; William Myers, Hanover; LeRoy W. Arentz, Littlestown R. 2; Lloyd William Shildt, Taneytown R. 1; Spencer E. Huff, Littlestown R. 2; Daniel E. Walter, Biglerville R. 1; George W. Sadler, Gettysburg R. 5; Earl H. Hilbert, Littlestown R. 1, and Robert Archie Cessa, Bedford.

The second January meeting of the American Legion, Ocker Snyder Post No. 321 will be held on Thursday evening, 7:30 o'clock, at the Legion Home, East King St.

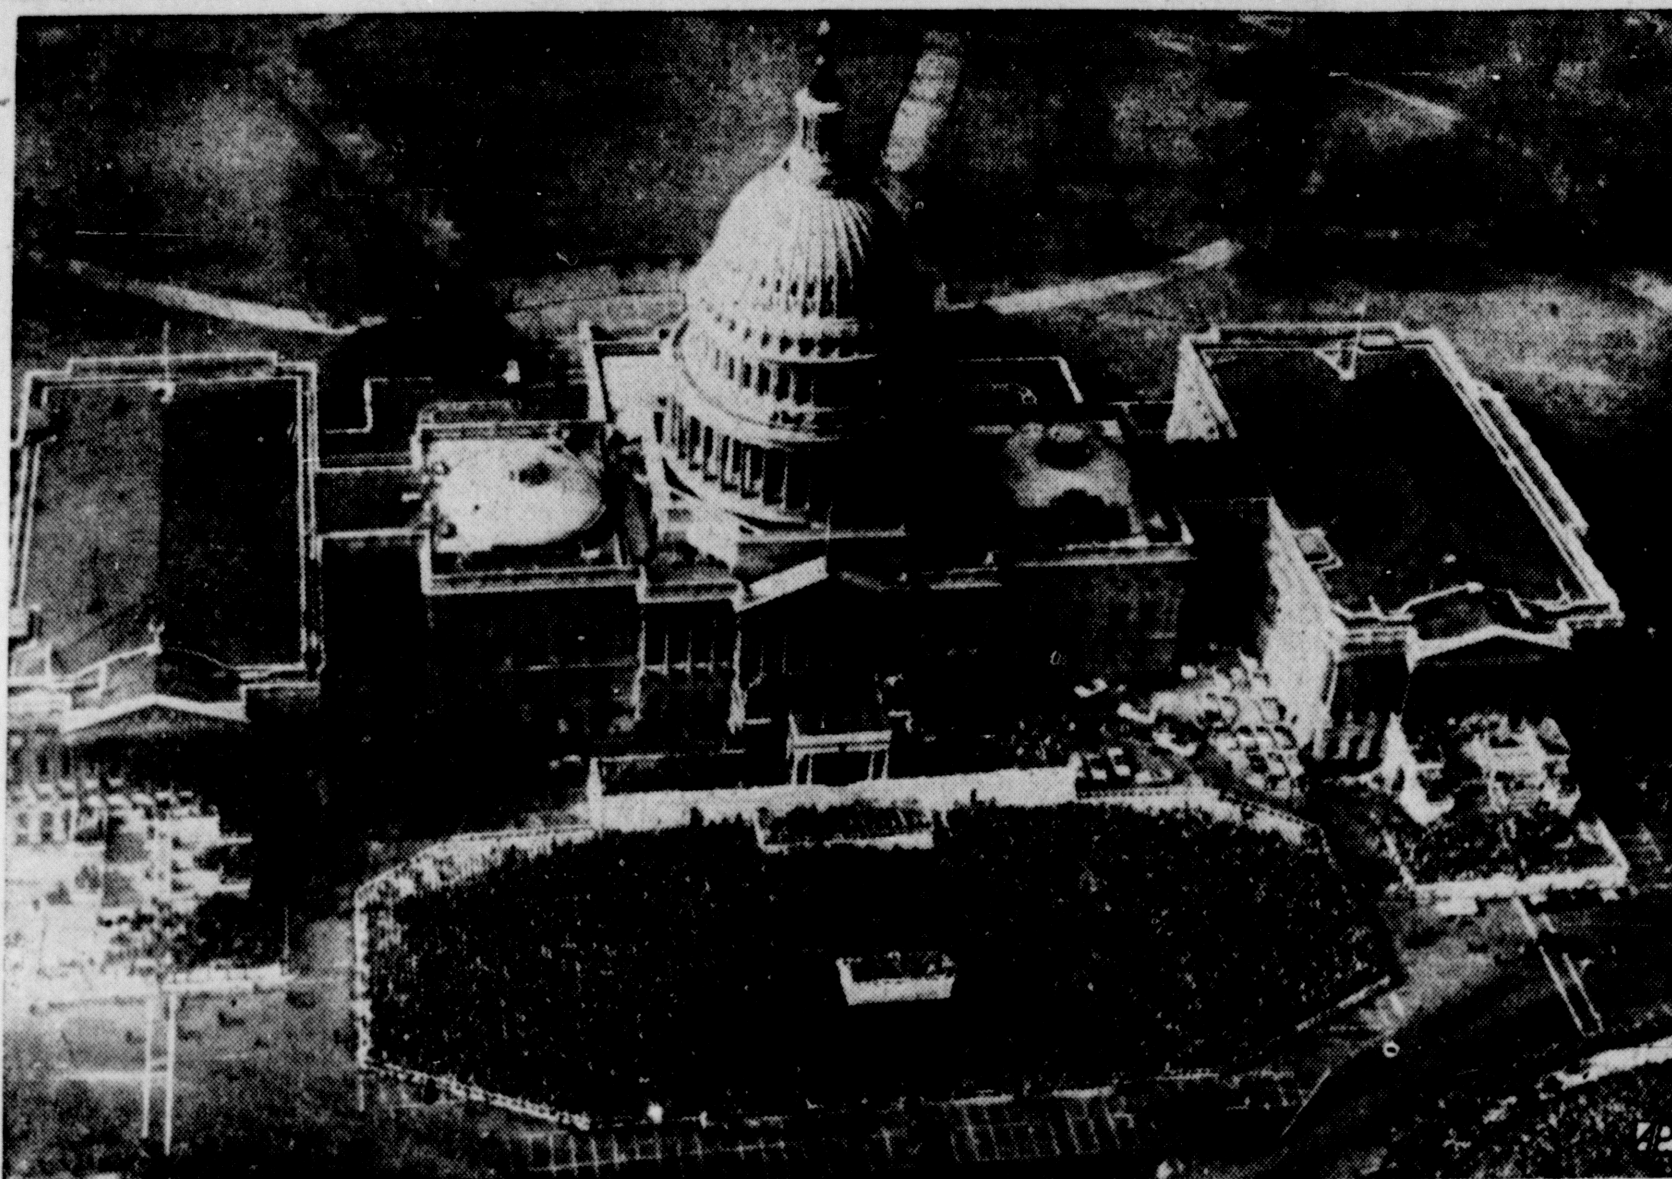

Lions To Hear Col. Strevig
Miss Edna Basehoar, West King St., will be hostess to the Frances Segner Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church for the monthly meeting on Thursday, January 29, at 7:30 p.m.

The Senior class of the Littlestown High School will sponsor a public roller skating party on Thursday evening, February 5, at Basehoar's Rink, North Queen St.

The Starr Bible Class of St. Paul's Church will hold its monthly meeting on Thursday, January 29, 7:45 p.m. at the church. The January hostesses include Mrs. John Kindig, Mrs. Ralph Conover, Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mrs. Emma Norwood.

Lieut. Col. John R. Strevig, a chaplain in the United States Army, stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds, who recently returned to the States from Germany, will be the guest speaker at the second January meeting of the Littlestown Lions Club on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock at Bankert's restaurant, South Queen St. The community betterment committee composed of Harry T. Harner, H. Dewey Strevig and Mark H. Loeble will be in charge of the evening's program.

IKE GIVES HINT OF NEW STRONG FOREIGN POLICY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's when he delivers his State of the Union message to Congress, probably within a couple of weeks, that President Eisenhower may get down to details on what he intends to do.

His inaugural address yesterday simply outlined his position: he is now, as before election, an internationalist. It was reassurance to this country's allies if they had any doubt.

Former President Truman, in almost all his farewell messages, talks and interviews, gave very little space to domestic problems. He put the big emphasis on foreign affairs.

Eisenhower did the same thing yesterday. And in general he pledged himself to follow Truman's basic foreign program.

Good World Trade

He wants good world trade and continued foreign aid for, and cooperation with, American allies. He's willing to seek disarmament. The latter probably won't happen. Russia has her own ideas on that.

But Eisenhower indicated he may be thinking of plans that go beyond Truman's. In the campaign he criticized the Truman administration for a lack of what he said he considered effective planning against Russia.

Buried in one of the paragraphs in yesterday's speech Eisenhower seemed to be repeating this criticism and hinting he intended to raise his sights higher.

This was when he said it is proper "we assure our friends . . . that we . . . know . . . the difference . . . between a thoughtfully calculated goal and spasmodic reaction to the stimulus of emergencies."

Spasmodic Plan

Spasmodic the Truman plan certainly was in the beginning of the cold war with Russia, although it could hardly be called a plan at all at that time.

Truman said recently his suspicions of Russia began in earnest shortly after the war when Stalin wouldn't pull his troops out of Iran. Truman decided on a showdown right there.

He warned Stalin to get out. Stalin did. Truman's quick action, and reaction, paid off. He reacted again when the Communists began to push against Greece and Turkey.

That time he set up a new Monroe Doctrine by throwing this country's arm around Greece and Turkey and giving them aid. The Communists lost out.

Cold War Gets Hotter

The Marshall Plan for helping Europe recover economically was of a longer-range nature. It was supposed to last at the outside four years. Before it could end, the cold war with Russia became hotter.

Then this country entered into the North Atlantic Pact, this country's first peacetime military alliance with Western Europe, and gave arms. At the same time the U. S. urged its allies to set up a European army.

This looked much further into the future than the Marshall Plan. In fact, then Secretary of State Acheson last year said strong ar-

IKE'S FOREIGN POLICY WINS WIDE SUPPORT

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's no-appeasement foreign policy creed commanded widespread support today in a Congress marking time for an early blueprint of his domestic program.

As the din of a three-day inaugural celebration died away, the 34th President faced the task of putting into a State of the Union message his ideas for carrying on maneuvers might be necessary for a generation.

This policy worked out by Truman and Acheson—surrounding Russia with armed strength to discourage any Russian military adventures without starting war with Russia—has become known as "containment."

So at the end Truman and Acheson might argue there was nothing spasmodic about his planning. What Eisenhower has in mind beyond this remains to be seen.

If Eisenhower doesn't spell out his ideas in ABC fashion in his State of the Union message, he will have time to do so when he later submits his specific programs to Congress.

SENDOFF STIRS TRUMAN AS HE STARTS HOME

EN ROUTE TO INDEPENDENCE, MO., WITH TRUMAN (AP)—Harry S. Truman, ex-President of the United States, took the long trip home today.

After nearly eight years as the head of a great government," he headed for Missouri in the role of "Mr. Truman, private citizen."

And alone with Mrs. Truman in the splendor of the private railroad car in which he had stormed the country in many a fiery campaign trip, he had opportunity to reflect again upon an eventful career and take thought of the future.

Stirred By Sendoff

For Harry Truman, despite his 68 years, has made clear that he will be a man to reckon with in the years ahead.

His emotions were stirred, as they have seldom been stirred before, by the sendoff he got at Washington last night at the end of a trying day in which he surrendered the presidency to Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Hundreds of cheering Democratic followers thronged around the rear platform of the presidential car which Eisenhower had placed at his predecessor's disposal. District of Columbia Commissioner F. Joseph Donahue described Truman as "the greatest friend" of "little people all over the world."

An obvious lump in his throat, the gray-haired Truman, his wife and daughter by his side, responded that "in all my career, and it has been a long one, I've never had an experience like this."

"This is the first time I've had the experience of being sent home in a blaze of glory," he went on.

"I'll never forget this if I live to be a hundred—and that's what I expect to do."

For more than 20 minutes, people climbed aboard the car to pump his hand, tell him goodbye and wish him luck and predict that the Democrats again will be restored to power.

Democratic senators, the outgoing Cabinet, government workers and all sorts of people passed through the receiving line in such numbers that the Baltimore & Ohio's National Limited pulled out of Union Station seven minutes late.

Truman is due in Independence, Mo., tonight for a hometown welcome.

Meanwhile, his long-time secretary, Matthew J. Connelly, is flying to Kansas City from Washington to set up private offices for his boss in the Federal Reserve Bank Building.

Truman's future plans remained a subject for speculation. But he may disclose them within a few days after he has had a rest.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The topic of legalization of pari-mutuel betting in Pennsylvania is up for consideration today as the Pennsylvania Association of County Fairs opens its annual two-day convention.

The association is expected to recommend to the 1953 General Assembly that a referendum on the question be conducted next fall.

speech—there were four applause interruptions—was countered by glowing words of praise from both Republicans and Democrats in Congress.

Senators like Taft of Ohio, the majority leader, and Wiley of Wisconsin, the foreign relations chairman, found the message "magnificent" and "inspiring." Democrats promised co-operation toward the over-all goal of world peace.

DELAY WILSON'S NEW HEARING ON APPOINTMENT UNTIL FRIDAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The abrupt delay of a senatorial inquiry signaled today that the new Eisenhower administration has found no solution to its most pressing political problem—whether to push for approval of Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense.

At issue is Wilson's financial interests in General Motors, a big defense-contract holder.

The eight other Eisenhower Cabinet members, hurriedly nominated officially after his inauguration yesterday, apparently were in line for Senate confirmation today. That would let them move into their jobs.

May Alter Testimony
But Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) told a reporter he was delaying until Friday an armed services committee hearing for Wilson. Previously scheduled for today, the session would have given Wilson an opportunity to alter his previous testimony. There were signs he would do so.

Wilson's name was omitted when President Eisenhower sent to the Senate yesterday a list of eight Cabinet and one sub-Cabinet appointees which Republicans had hoped would get immediate approval.

Sen. Morse (Ind-Gre) who blocked the confirmation move with an objection, said he was ready to vote today on the nominees. Barring unexpected lengthy talk, they might all be confirmed by nightfall. Morse was able to block action yesterday because the situation required suspension of Senate rules which say nominations shall not be acted upon the day they are submitted. This required unanimous agreement and Morse wouldn't agree.

Cite Federal Law

Saltonstall said he had decided to postpone the armed services committee hearing on Wilson because (1) the proposed defense secretary had not been formally nominated and (2) Herbert Brownell Jr., incoming attorney general, had not had time because of the inaugural ceremonies to complete his study of the situation.

Wilson's proposed nomination has been challenged by an increasing number of senators because a federal law bars any U. S. official from dealing with a firm in which he holds even an indirect financial interest and Wilson testified previously he would not give up 2½ million dollars worth of General Motors stock.

Wilson formerly was president of G.M., the Defense Department's largest private contractor.

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Thomas R. Baldwin and Billy J. Mathas, two soldiers stationed at Camp Kilmer, New Brunswick, N. J., Tuesday after being returned to Army officials after being convicted of violating the National Motor Vehicle Theft Act.

They were given sentences of one day's probation and sent back to the Army for overseas processing.

DULLES, KENNAN SPLIT ON POLICY TOWARD USSR

WASHINGTON (AP)—An open break over policy toward Russia and its satellite countries developed recently between secretary of state designate John Foster Dulles and the State Department's top expert on Soviet relations, George F. Kennan.

Kennan is assigned as U. S. envoy to Moscow but has been unable to fill that post for many months. The Soviet government barred him after he publicly compared its isolation of foreigners in Moscow to the practices of the Nazis before World War II.

The policy break has developed over Dulles' declared intention to use all sorts of peaceful measures—he has not specified precisely what he would do—for the promotion of the spirit of liberty in Soviet satellite countries and eventually the liberation of those countries.

Dulles told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday that he was certain such a policy on the part of the United States government could be developed and made effective and that those who said it could not simply did not know what they were talking about. He advocated "moral pressure and the weight of propaganda" to achieve the purpose.

Call Policy "Risky"

Persons familiar with thinking inside the State Department have been aware since the presidential political campaign, when Dulles first amplified his proposal, that many career officials in the State Department disagree with his thesis. They believe the policy he advocates would be extremely risky.

Kennan, who lives near East Berlin, spoke out Saturday night in an address to the Pennsylvania State Bar Association at Scranton. He did not use Dulles' name, but criticized "those who point to what they believe to be the unhappiness of the various peoples under Soviet rule and advocate a policy which, placing our hopes on the possibility of the internal disintegration of Soviet power, would make it the purpose of government action to promote such disintegration."

"Not Consistent"

Kennan said such a purpose and policy for the United States would not be consistent "with our international obligations . . . with a common membership with other countries in the United Nations . . . with the maintenance of formal diplomatic relations with another country."

"It is replete with possibilities for misunderstanding and bitterness. To the extent it might be successful, it would involve us in heavy responsibilities."

"Finally, the prospects for success would be very small indeed, since the problem of civil obedience is not a great problem to the modern police dictatorship."

Formed Basic Policy

Kennan formulated, while he was stationed in the Moscow embassy as a U. S. diplomat about the end of World War II, a statement of the "containment policy" which became the basis of United States policy toward Russia.

The essence of the containment policy was to create strength among the free nations to prevent any expansion of Soviet power, and count on either the eventual internal breakdown of the Communist system or its mellowing to a point where the cold war could be settled.

During the election campaign Dulles assailed the containment policy as inadequate and called for peaceful steps which would put the free world on the offensive and would exert pressures toward the rolling back of Soviet power.

Weaker Brodie Twin Dies; Amazed Doctors For 34 Days

CHICAGO (AP)—Tiny Roger Lee Brodie, Siamese twin who for 34 days amazed the medical world by surviving a head-to-head surgical separation, died last night.

The 16-month-old boy had been in a deep coma since the history-making operation Dec. 17. His brain circulation was impaired and his condition had been listed "very precarious" since the separation from his brother Rodney Dee.

Attending physicians had expressed amazement that he survived the 12 hour and 40 minute operation.

First In History
The surgery on the twins, who were born joined at the top of their heads, was the first time in medical history the patients had survived such an operation.

Rodney, since the separation, has undergone two plastic procedures to put skin over his brain. He has shown some signs he is on the road to recovery. However, he must undergo further surgery and his condition still is regarded as critical.

It was during the twins' separation that surgeons discovered there was only one superior sagittal sinus, the main passageway of vein draining blood back from both brains. Because Rodney was holding up much better during the marathon operation and surgery in his favor could be more easily performed, he was favored for "survival of the fittest" by the surgeons. They gave the sagittal sinus and most of the brain covering to Rodney and took the bigger chance on Roger's survival.

Parents of the twins, Mr. and Mrs. Royt Brodie, were informed of Roger's death late last night through a relative as they have no telephone in their farm home near Moline, Ill.

7-Week Filibuster Ends In Rome Today

ROME (AP)—The longest filibuster in Italian parliamentary history ended early today with a steam-roller vote of confidence in Premier Alcide De Gasperi's anti-Communist government and approval of the election change his regime demanded.

Certain of defeat, the Communists and their Socialist allies finally walked out of the parliamentary chamber after seven weeks of debate punctuated by frequent fist-fights in Parliament and strikes outside.
